Hearing Slated Tomorrow On Parking Lot

Commissioners Seek To Have Second Injunction Lifted

A hearing will be held in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court tomorrow at 1 p. m. on a move to dissolve the latest restraining order against work on the controversial courthouse parking lot.

A new injunction against the construction was granted by Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff after a petition was filed yesterday by William Hickey and Arthur Wilkin, asking that work be halted at the parking lot site.

The two petitioners requested that work be stopped until final determination of several legal points in the matter could be made at a court hearing.

County Prosecutor William Ammer, representing the board of commissioners, then submitted a motion late yesterday afternoon asking that the new restraining order against the parking lot be dissolved.

As the result of Ammer's action, Judge Radcliff set the hearing for tomorrow. Judge Earl D. Parker of Pike County will preside at tomorrow's session.

YESTERDAY'S restraining order is the second such action issued against the parking lot within the past two weeks.

The first petition halting work at the site was dismissed in common pleas court last Friday on technicalities.

Contractors in charge of work at the parking lot resumed construction yesterday morning. However, work was discontinued in the afternoon after contractors were notified of the new court action.

Court Asked To Void AAA Farm Setup

CINCINNATI — A Defiance County farmer Tuesday asked the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals here to rule on the constitutionality of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, under which farmers are told how much of a given crop they can plant.

Walter J. Miller, whose farm is near Sherwood, was appealing a $302.40 judgment in favor of the government, handed down last Jan. 19 by District Judge Frank L. Kloeb, Toledo.

The courtroom was crowded, a rarity for appeals court, with more than 50 farmers and attorneys. James Mannix of Greenville, president of the Independent Farmers of Ohio, Inc., said more than 100 similar cases against farmers were awaiting outcome of Miller's appeal.

Charles A. McCarthy, president of the U. S. Constitution Society of Ohio, said his society passed a resolution supporting, "by all means at our command, the Independent Farmers of Ohio, Inc., in their fight to remove Federal controls from agricultural production in the United States."

The government had charged that Miller planted a 1954 wheat crop of 25 acres, or 15 acres more than his AAA allotment. It asked a penalty of $112 a bushel for 270 bushels of wheat harvested by Miller.

Through his attorney, Robert E. Albright of Columbus, Miller contended that he was not engaged in interstate commerce, and thus was not subject to the AAA. He said he never had accepted AAA benefits and never had registered under the act, so that he was not subject to its provisions.

Neil Brooks of Washington, representing the Agriculture Department, said it was the government's position that the AAA applied to all farmers, whether they wanted it or not.

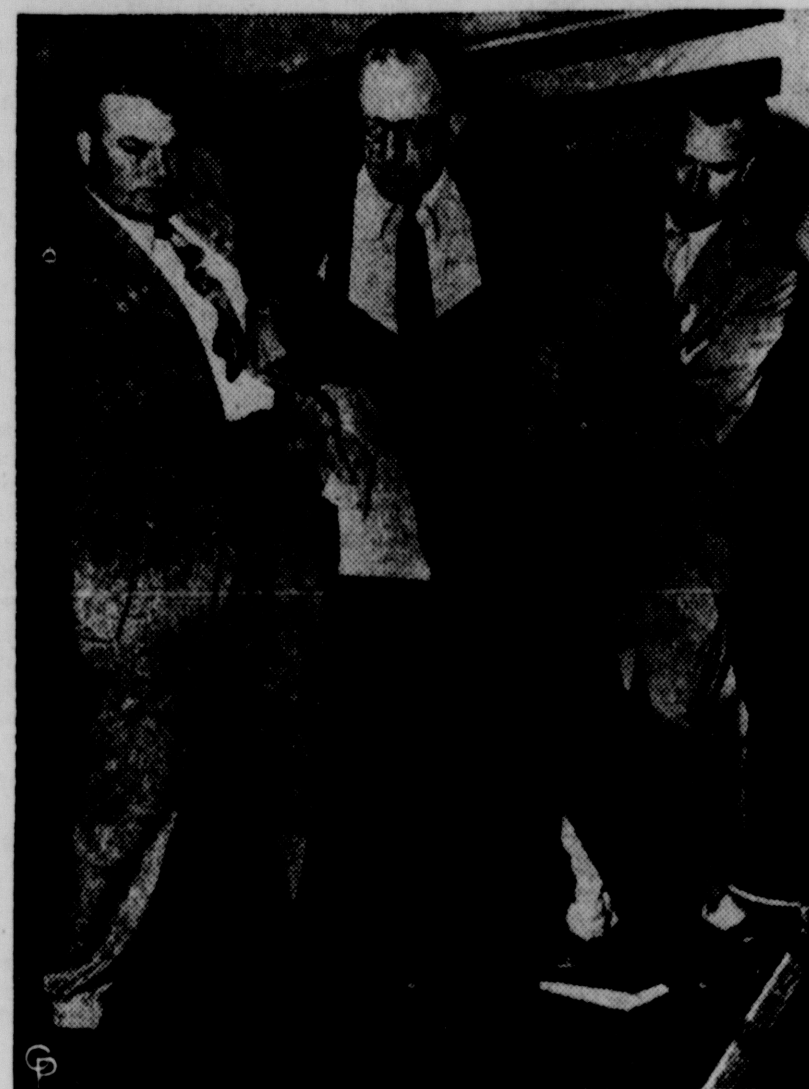

Dozen Satellites May Be Launched

ATHENS — Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the U. S. National Committee for the International Geophysical year, says he believes the first of 12 artificial satellites will be projected into space about Jan. 1, 1958.

He told an Ohio University audience that if six satellites are successful, "it will be a good percentage."

Telephone Union Planning To Offer Counter-Proposal

COLUMBUS — J. Curtis Fletcher, national director of the Communications Workers of America, said today the union has "tentatively" scheduled a bargaining meeting Monday at which it plans to make a counter-proposal on wages to Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co.

Fletcher issued a statement saying that after formally rejecting the company's latest offer for settlement earlier in the week, the union listed the items it proposed for settlement of the dispute. He said:

"We proposed to keep the following items that were included in the old contract: 1. A 10% full scope arbitration, payment for emergency non-scheduled time, vacations, absence due to critical illness in the family, payment of illness time, termination pay."

"We rejected the company's proposal for a no-strike clause, for half-hours, for limitation of termination pay."

"We proposed to keep the disputed titles in the contract until the National Labor Relations Board acts on whether any of them should be excluded from the bargaining unit. This management

Haiti Agog Amid Boiling Political Fuss

MIAMI, Fla. — Confusion swept Haiti today as a boiling political crisis headed toward a showdown.

The country is virtually paralyzed by a mass sitdown, the refusal of thousands of persons to work.

Its object is to force bull-headed Gen. Paul E. Magloire to step out of the gleaming white palace in Port-au-Prince, the capital, and permit general elections for a new president.

The explosive situation hit a climax last week.

On Thursday, Magloire resigned as president. Under one interpretation of the constitution, his six-year term ended Dec. 6. The Haitian constitution does not permit a president to succeed himself.

Hours later, however, Magloire resumed office as "chief of state," presumably at the request of the army.

He then imprisoned the principal presidential candidates and about 49 others. He also dissolved the Senate and Legislature, and in effect suspended constitutional authority.

Magloire claimed he was forced to take the measures, saying political leaders had caused a series of bombings and shootings during their campaigns, and created a situation that blocked all possibility of a legitimate general election.

Canada Still Hunts Downed Airliner

VANCOUVER, B. C. — Leads fizzled out and new ones took their place in rapid order today as the hunt continued and hope dwindled for the 62 persons who vanished aboard a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane Sunday night.

Varying reports received by Royal Canadian Air Force officials directing the search were painstakingly investigated. Two reports of lights sighted on mountains in the area where the plane last was reported approximately 100 miles east of here were quickly discounted by the RCAS Tuesday night.

has refused to do. When the governor induced the company to submit this matter to the NLRB he expected that this would remove this one item from the dispute. The company insists on excluding these titles now, without waiting for NLRB action, so this is still an item in dispute.

"We accepted the company's proposals on short hour tours for Portsmouth traffic department employees and on current practices."

Meanwhile, in Portsmouth, National Labor Relations Board hearings continued on alleged unfair labor practices by the striking union.

Ohio Consolidated has charged that the union "restrained and coerced employees of the company in violation of rights guaranteed by the Taft-Hartley Law, used force, violence, impeding or preventing ingress and egress of the employer's supervisors from the employer's premises and threatening to destroy company property."

At the hearing which opened Tuesday, Robert Arnett, 23-year-old president of the CWA local in Portsmouth, said the local last July 9 voted 112-0 to strike "after the management and the union could not get together on a contract agreement."

Arnett testified that certain rules for picketing were posted in the union's meeting hall but that he did not know their contents.

Examiner C. W. Whittemore of Washington, D. C., is presiding over the hearing on charges the union made 26 violations of the labor act between the time the strike began and the Portsmouth exchanges were closed.

Ditch, Highway Law Change Asked By County Aides

COLUMBUS — Revision of Ohio's county ditch laws and an end to state abandonment of relocated highways were demanded today by county officials.

The demands were filed by two groups meeting in joint convention—the County Commissioners' Assn. and County Engineers' Assn. of Ohio.

The drive for revision of ditch laws called for small annual assessments per acre against benefited property and for abandonment of a provision requiring petitions for ditching. They said a revised law would benefit farmers because the county could act immediately on clogged ditches.

They also called for an end to state policy of turning relocated highways over to counties. He said it is "proving too expensive for a county's pocketbook."

Ike Nearing End Of Dixie Vacation

AUGUSTA, Ga. — This is President Eisenhower's last full day of vacation plus work at this favorite Dixie retreat.

Thursday afternoon he will fly back to Washington, ending a 2½-week stay at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Aides pictured the President as thoroughly refreshed and feeling fine at near the close of this longest of 11 visits to Augusta since he was elected in 1952.

Britain, France Seeking New Meeting With Egypt

Hungarians Strike Despite Warnings

VIENNA — A protest strike against Premier Janos Kadar's Soviet-imposed government went into its second day today in Hungary.

Word arrived in the West of many isolated clashes between striking workers and Russian soldiers. But so far there was no repetition of the bloodbath with which Soviet troops and tanks beat back the armed Hungarian revolt Nov. 4.

Kadar sent his security police and Soviet occupation troops to break up workers' demonstrations. The puppet premier vowed that, having defeated his foes militarily, "we will also defeat them politically."

Soviet troops were reported moving to wipe out a band of rebel guerrillas holding out in the hills northwest of Budapest. Informed Hungarian sources said the freedom fighters were encircled but fighting to escape extinction.

The general strike, ordered to last until midnight tonight, brought industry and commerce almost to a standstill on its first day.

A YUGOSLAV correspondent reported from Budapest that at least 80 per cent of Hungary's workers obeyed the cease work order from the outlawed Central Workers' Council. Other dispatches said the work stoppage was nearly 100 per cent effective in the provinces.

Moscow radio and Kadar's Budapest broadcasting station played down the effectiveness of the strike, called to protest the Kadar regime's dictatorial actions.

But in its next words Budapest radio pleaded for a return to normalcy.

The station quoted Kadar as saying each day of the general strike would cost the nation's economy about $25 million.

The broadcast said the Premier warned a workers' delegation that he would consolidate the Red army's military victory over the Oct. 23 rebellion with complete defeat of political foes.

Despite martial law and the arrest of some labor leaders, workers stayed away from their jobs Tuesday by the thousands.

U.N. Angered By Hungary

Walkout In Assembly Firms Opposition

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Angered by the defiant walkout of Hungary's pro-Moscow delegation, U. N. diplomats rallied today behind an American resolution condemning Russia for tampering in Hungarian affairs.

Three more nations — Spain, Turkey and Colombia — threw in their support, bringing the resolution's total sponsorship to 20 as the General Assembly went on with its latest round of debate on the Hungarian crisis.

The 20 sponsors met Tuesday night to discuss a companion resolution entered by India and her three closest Asian allies—Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia. The Asian proposal omits actual condemnation of Russia. But U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. told his cosponsors it was noteworthy in its strong rebuke.

Lodge was slated to take the floor late today to analyze the Asian proposal. It would have U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold negotiate with both Hungary and Russia for withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary.

THE BUDAPEST regime already has ignored four previous Assembly resolutions calling for admission of U. N. observers and withdrawal of the Russian forces.

Informed sources said the 20 sponsors of the U. S. proposal agreed to drive for a quick vote on their own resolution and then to suggest a paragraph by paragraph ballot on the Indian proposal. This would leave the Assembly free to select whatever parts it wanted.

General resentment over Hungary's flouting of the Assembly took a sharp upturn after Foreign Minister Imre Horvath stalked out of the Assembly Tuesday, declaring his government had been "disgracefully offended" by the U. N.

Irish Outlaws Stage Raids At 12 North Ireland Points

BELFAST — The outlawed Irish Republican Army staged a mass raid at 12 points in British North Ireland today, causing an estimated $1 million worth of damage.

Before they were beaten back by the Royal Ulster Constabulary, the invaders blew up a $100,000 British Broadcasting Corp. transmitter, two buildings, and two bridges, set fire to a courthouse and tried to capture a military barracks.

They set off what police described as "a night of terror" along a line stretching almost 200 miles across Northern Ireland (Ulster). Five of Ulster's six counties were affected.

A policeman was wounded slightly and five raiders were captured before the invaders fled. Police said at least three of those who escaped were wounded. The constables found two bullet-riddled cars, machineguns and hundreds of rounds of ammunition.

Heavy detachments of constabulary, and helicopters and police dogs, were thrown into the hunt for the fleeing invaders. Barbed wire roadblocks were thrown up at the wooded and mountainous border with the Irish Republic. But police said the main body of the raiders apparently had escaped across the border.

Police said the raid apparently was a show of strength on the part of IRA leaders to discourage any bid for control by dissident fac-

Suez Accord Reported Goal

Nations Said Ready To Reduce Demands

PARIS — Western diplomats say Britain and France are seeking an early meeting with Egypt to settle the Suez Canal controversy.

The two Western powers were said to have indicated clearly at the current NATO meeting here that they now will accept less than full international control of the waterway.

Britain, France, the United States and 15 other nations previously have backed a plan calling for creation of an international authority to run the canal. Egypt rejected the international control, saying it would infringe on Egyptian sovereignty.

The willingness of the two powers to make a fresh approach to the problem was reported after British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau discussed the canal issue in separate meetings with U. S. Secretary of State Dulles.

MEANWHILE, West Germany warned the North Atlantic Council there is grave danger of East Germany following Hungary into rebellion against Moscow's domination—and NATO had better decide what to do if the revolt comes.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano sought the advice of the other 14 NATO partners as the foreign, defense and finance ministers of the alliance met in the Chaillet Palace for the second day of their annual session.

Von Brentano put this problem before the allies:

Any revolt in East Germany would generate strong pressure among the West German public to rush some form of aid rather than stand by and see the lives of other Germans snuffed out.

The West German government obviously fears it would be unable to restrain some West German elements from crossing the border to aid the Germans to the east, and that this would provoke retaliations from the Russians.

Steel Firms Press Toward Merger Plan

NEW YORK — Two of the United States' largest steel companies plan to merge despite notice by the Justice Department that it will move promptly to block the consolidation.

The Bethlehem Steel Corp., second in the industry behind U. S. Steel, and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., sixth largest, announced Tuesday an agreement under which Bethlehem would acquire Youngstown in exchange for Bethlehem common stock.

In Washington, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell said the Justice Department will take prompt action in the federal courts seeking to bar the merger.

Justice officials declined to say in what city the action will be brought. The two companies said they hope the government's legal action will be "speedily determined by the courts."

Bethlehem Chairman Eugene G. Grace and J. L. Mauthe, chairman of Youngstown, said that the proposed merger would not affect U. S. Steel's position as largest in the industry.

It would be one of the biggest in history, creating a company with assets around $2½ billion. The Justice Department for more than two years has opposed the proposal on the grounds that it would tend to lessen competition.

Fanatics Admit Killing Briton

PORT SAID, Egypt — The Egyptian underground says it kidnapped and killed a young British lieutenant.

The report was brought to British headquarters Tuesday night in the face of British insistence that the lieutenant be returned quickly.

The kidnapping followed the seizure last weekend of a large cache of explosives and ammunition being smuggled into Port

Said and an attempted ambush of a British patrol.

Egyptian authorities disclaimed responsibility for the incidents. Informants said they were the work of members of the fanatic Moslem brotherhood in Port Said. They said the secret terror organization, outlawed by the government two years ago, was attempting to embarrass President Nasser.

The British - French occupation command awaited firmer evidence before conceding the officer had been killed. But British Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, the occupation chief, let it be understood that some action would follow if the officer was not given up alive.

Poland Bucks New Rioting

Many Youths Among 88 Persons Jailed

WARSAW — New anti-government violence was reported in Poland today in the wake of the mob attack on the Soviet consulate at Stettin. Eighty-eight persons, many of them youths, were reported jailed for the Stettin riot.

Trybuna Ludu, official organ of the Polish United Workers' (Communist) party, disclosed a crowd attacked a police building in Olecko, a town near the northeastern city of Bialystok.

Order was restored, the paper said, only after the arrival of several scores of militiamen.

The Communist paper reported the crowds demolished municipal offices at Nowy Ciesnocinek in the northern midlands.

Other demonstrators beat up a local Communist party secretary at Nieszawa, in the same district.

The paper added: "More such incidents can be reported."

Poland's nationalist Communist government, seeking to avert any repetition of the Soviet military intervention in Hungary, sped an apology to the Soviets for the attack on the Russian consulate in the outburst at Stettin.

NEWSPAPERS which first played down the riots as drunken hooliganism reported that the demonstrators attacked police headquarters and tried to break open the jail.

These reports said the rioters were dispersed from the jail by police using tear gas.

The attack on the Soviet consulate followed two hours later. The demonstrators got inside the building and damaged furniture. The papers did not report what happened to the consulate staff.

The riot aroused grave fear that Stalinist elements inside the Polish Communist party might use this as political ammunition to demand an end to Poland's current liberalization policy.

Pennsylvanians Holding Noses

PHILADELPHIA — Residents in six counties of eastern Pennsylvania reported a peculiar, pungent odor in the air Tuesday night. The Philadelphia Weather Bureau, public utilities, the Navy and the Air Force all said they could not identify it or offer an explanation.

One resident put it this way: "There's a big stink all through this part of the country and nobody knows where it's coming from."

Baldrige Damage Case Near Jury

WASHINGTON, D. C. — A $150,000 damage suit against former Adams County Sheriff George S. Baldrige is expected to go to a Fayette County common pleas court jury here today.

The suit was brought against Baldrige by Mrs. Marie Patrick, widow of Irvin J. Patrick, a game protector killed Nov. 15, 1955.

Baldrige was convicted of manslaughter in Patrick's fatal shooting during an argument over illegal game taken on the Baldrige farm.

Storms Kill 66

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Sixty-six persons are dead and more than 200 missing as a result of floods and gales that swept East Java last week. More than 75,000 are homeless.

THE KIDNAPING was the latest of a string of actions by the underground to harass the rapidly diminishing British and French forces, in the process of withdrawing from Egypt at the demand of the U. N. General Assembly.

Lt. A. G. Moorehouse, leader of a patrol that captured seven Egyptian commandos Monday night hiding in a dentist's apartment, stopped his jeep in the same street Tuesday morning to talk to a man.

An Arab boy said he saw three men force the British officer into a taxi at the point of the lieutenant's own gun.

The car was found later, its interior bloodstained. A gag and rope were inside.

A thorough search of Port Said brought no sign of the missing lieutenant. At dusk an Egyptian civilian brought word from the underground that the officer had been slain.

Stockwell said Port Said had been sealed off and the Egyptians could not get the Briton or his body out of town.

Meanwhile, it was reported that the Israeli army has withdrawn the bulk of its troops from the Sinai Peninsula. Some units remain as covering forces for the final phases of the pull-out.

The withdrawal is being timed to mesh with the movement eastward from the Suez Canal of Yugoslav troops of the emergency U. N. force.

The Yugoslav advance has been slowed by Israeli minefields and roads blown up on the western side of the peninsula.

"CUSPIDGR FOR SHARPSHOOTERS"

If it wasn't for Tobacco, the Cuspidgr would never have been invented. But then Tobacco is responsible for a lot of other things like The Hit Parade, Balconies and noisy commercials. I read the other day that if all the cigarettes that were smoked in this world in one week were laid end to end they'd reach the Moon. Now that's an interesting statistic but I think it would be impossible to prove because of the technical problems involved in building tiny space suits for the cigarettes and space helmets for the filter tips. However, science is making terrific strides ahead these days so who knows, maybe in a few years it'll be possible for cigarettes to reach the Moon. Isn't that keen news?

Lancaster Man Penalized in Court Hearing

Robert Orin Thurston, 31, Lancaster, accused of driving under the influence of intoxicants, was given the usual penalty handed down in Circleville Municipal Court for "drunk" driving.

The Lancaster motorist was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his driver's license suspended for six months on the intoxicated driving accusation. He was arrested by the sheriff's department.

Two traffic violators arrested by the state patrol were as follows:

Carl Gibson, 29, Columbus; $50 and costs for driving while his license was suspended and $25 and costs for displaying an operator's license belonging to another person. His license had been suspended by the bureau of motor vehicles for failure to deposit security as the result of an accident.

Cloyce William Smith, 31, Stoutsville; $40 and costs for speeding at 100.

Earl Trego, 49, Grove City was fined $10 and costs for driving left of center. He was arrested by city police.

The Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart. (1 Samuel 16:7.)

PRAYER: O Lord, deliver us from pride. Clothe us in humility. Destroy in us self-righteousness. Make our hearts and our minds and lives humble, so that we may be dwelling places of Thy presence. In our dear Saviour's name. Amen.

Winners Listed In 1956 Soil Essay Contest

Joann Hunsinger, Williamsport Frosh, Given Top Trophy

Joann Hunsinger, freshman at Williamsport High School, has been named winner of the 1956 Soil Conservation Essay Contest.

Winners of the contest were announced at the Pickaway County Soil Conservation District annual meeting and fish fry.

Writers of the first four winning essays were awarded gold plated trophies given by the conservation district, and George Hamrick, county agent, awarded the four winners 4-H Soil Conservation pins.

Miss Hunsinger wrote the story of how she and her parents worked seven years to establish soil conservation practices on their farm and told of the rewards of increased production from the soil. She went on to describe the personal satisfaction in knowing the soil was staying on the farm, and not going down Big Darby Creek with every rainfall.

THE SECOND place essay was written by Roger Schneider, Walnut Township School. Third place essay was written by Virginia Barnes, Williamsport High School, and fourth place essay was written by Ross Barr, Walnut Township School. The next six essays written were awarded pins.

The first four essays were read and enjoyed by the 200 people in attendance at the annual meeting and fish fry. Several people commented after the meeting it was a "good feeling to know we have young people interested in saving our soil" for the generations to come.

Tom Kennard, state soil conservationist, speaker for the meeting, told the story of how our land has decreased from 1,400 acres per person, when the white man started clearing this land, to 2.4 acres per person in 1956. The speaker made the point clear this county could reach the point where there may be too few acres to produce food to feed its people.

Hunters Each Bag Deer In Pennsylvania

Two local deerhunters, Ed Helwag and son Bud, N. Court St. auto dealers, made the most of a trip to Pennsylvania last week as each bagged a spiked buck on their first jaunt into the woods.

The two auto dealers shot the prized game animals in Potter County, well-known deer area in Pennsylvania. Both bucks weighed approximately 100 pounds dressed.

Using high-powered rifles, the two hunters said that each deer was brought down with one shot.

The elder Helwag said that the buck he downed was shot about 100 yards from the cabin where he and his son were staying.

Helwag remarked that many deer were taken in the Potter County area. He counted eight killed near his cabin the first day.

Wild animals are easier to handle in the air than tame ones. Perhaps civilization has caused the tame ones to be less relaxed.

Tigers are difficult to handle only for one reason—other animals, especially monkeys, are fearful of them, and can scent them a long distance. Air lines, therefore, meet that situation by placing tigers in the tail section of the plane near the ventilating system, which carries off the scent.

'AIR-MINDED' ANIMALS

Transporting Wild Beasts and Birds By Plane Creates Numerous Problems

Perfect fellow travelers—an elephant and a white hen.

By LESLIE P. BICHEL
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

NEW YORK—New York's vast international airport—Idlewild—fast is becoming a zoo of many inhabitants. Except the animals and the birds and the fishes don't remain there long. They're either arriving or departing via plane for all parts of the world. Each international airline has its hostel for these unique travelers.

One of the latest is maintained by KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, which goes in for animal flights. Officials there estimate that 15 per cent of its air freight tonnage is in birds and animals, from chicks to elephants. Of course, no adult elephants or rhinos or hippopotamuses are taken. However, young elephants often travel.

The care and feeding of this live cargo requires knowledge and understanding. Detailed manuals serve as guides, but the success of each undertaking lies in the treatment of the animals.

They are sensitive to slights, pine away. They must be kept out of drafts and strong sunlight. They contract pneumonia easily, especially when they perspire in upper altitudes. Average height for animal flights is 8,000 feet. Each must have a diet to which it is accustomed.

BIRDS, IF PLACED in a dark compartment, refuse food and drink. Caged, the birds can stand only 36 hours of flight at the most. They are used to doing their own flying.

Baby chicks are placed 100 to the box. They are just emerging from the shell, feed on yolk, go 72 hours without other food, and are shipped by the many thousands.

Snakes are the opposite of birds. They desire dark corners and become lethargic and harmless because of the altitude, but of course are boxed or bagged.

Wild animals are easier to handle in the air than tame ones. Perhaps civilization has caused the tame ones to be less relaxed.

Tigers are difficult to handle only for one reason—other animals, especially monkeys, are fearful of them, and can scent them a long distance. Air lines, therefore, meet that situation by placing tigers in the tail section of the plane near the ventilating system, which carries off the scent.

One air line even hired a veterinarian to suggest the best means of making its live cargo more comfortable. He began with elephants. They get lonely, he said. Provide a traveling companion, he urged. Well, what? A small white hen. This is the answer: Elephants have poor eyesight. They can see white readily.

Prior to shipment the white hen is placed in the stall with the elephant. He sees it, likes it, won't step on it. Therefore, in rough weather on board the plane, when an elephant may stampede in fright, an attendant ties the white hen to the elephant's leg.

The pachyderm, fearful that he will step on his white friend, stands perfectly still. When the hen isn't tied to the elephant's leg it's usually roosting on his head.

HORSES and cattle make an air voyage better than by sea. They don't lose weight because of seasickness. Horses aren't fed for 24 hours prior to flight. Aboard plane, a bucket of oats sets a horse at ease.

More lion cubs are flown from America than arrive here. That's because the zoos of America are producing them faster than they can absorb them. Monkeys are the largest imports—especially since the discovery of the Salk anti-polio vaccine. Thousands of the rhesus variety have arrived from India.

Even the problem of drinking vessels for birds had to be studied and worked out. A flat one with grating was designed. Otherwise, a bird could drown in its own water container during rough weather. For animals, no drinking vessel must have a scent alien to the particular animal. If it does, he could die of thirst.

Seals, walrus, penguins, being lifted far from their water element, are hosed down before and after flights. Seals present another problem. They cannot pick up food from the floor. They are fed by hand.

ASK a crew which is the most troublesome cargo, and the answer will be unanimous—monkeys. When they begin fighting, there's nothing to do but cover the cages with tarpaulins. Then the incessant chatter and screeching dies down.

How are tropical fish transported? They are put into plastic bags filled with water. Pure oxygen is pumped into the water. Then the bag is sealed. The water gradually absorbs the oxygen, and the fish live comfortably in the container for days.

15 U.S. Oil Firms Asked To Join Pool

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government formally asked 15 U. S. oil firms Tuesday to pool their resources, reroute tanker fleets and swap markets in an effort to relieve petroleum shortages in Western Europe.

The aim is to replace some of the Middle Eastern oil lost to Europe through the blocking of the Suez Canal and thus save off suffering, unemployment and perhaps depression.

The plan, drafted by the 15 companies participating, is designed to increase by about 850,000 barrels of oil daily the normal tanker movement from U. S. Gulf ports and, to a small extent, from Venezuela.

About 500,000 barrels will go to Europe and the rest to Atlantic Coast ports in the United States and Canada to replace oil which formerly came from the Middle East fields.

The plan was triggered into action by Director Arthur S. Flemming of the Office of Defense Mobilization. He made public an agreement which temporarily exempts the firms taking part from antitrust action.

New Farm Law Study Expected In Congress

U.S. Corn Farmers Turn Down Benson's Control Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers' rejection of a new corn control program favored by Secretary of Agriculture Benson appeared today to have opened the door for a broad congressional review of federal farm programs.

In one of five separate crop referendums Tuesday, corn growers in a designated commercial area voted in effect to stick with an old program authorized in 1938 even with its widely admitted shortcomings.

Some doubtless voted against the new Benson proposal on the basis of promises of Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.), a sharp critic of the secretary, that he would sponsor new legislation next year to eliminate weaknesses of the old plan.

Four other referendums went as expected. Farmers voted to continue rigid federal marketing quotas on upland cotton, extra long staple cotton, rice and peanuts. The quotas are designed to help prevent production of surpluses.

Farm legislation this year produced some of the sharpest political skirmishing in Congress, with President Eisenhower vetoing one big Democratic bill.

THE CORN referendum produced 257,874 votes for the new proposal and 163,227 for the old one. This was a majority of 61.2 per cent for the new one, but a 66.7 per cent or two thirds majority was required under the law.

Ohio farmers went along with Benson's program for corn. But farmers in 23 other states failed to give the issue a necessary two-thirds vote for approval.

With only Scioto County not reporting, apparently due to the phone blackout there, the state agriculture stabilization and conservation committee said corn farmers in 70 of 71 Ohio counties participating favored the program by a vote of 16,734 to 6,813.

The state gave the measure a 71 per cent vote, more than ample for the two-thirds requirement.

The rejected plan would have allotted 51 million acres to corn farmers in the commercial area, which presently comprises 894 major producing counties in 24 midwestern, eastern and southern states.

The old one, referred to as the acreage allotment program, provides for apportionment of only 37,288,000 acres among the same farmers.

The new plan had been advanced because the old one resulted in sharply reduced allotments and widespread overplanting and non-compliance.

The only penalty for failing to comply with allotments is loss of eligibility for price supports.

BECAUSE MANY growers exceeded their allotments and thus became ineligible for price supports, the old program was widely regarded as ineffective in preventing overproduction and in stabilizing prices.

Benson had indicated clearly he favored the new plan, which Congress wrote into the soil bank law this year with his approval.

His opposition was centered not on the larger allotment of the new plan, but on a provision that would have given the secretary of agriculture much greater leeway in setting price supports on corn after 1957.

Under the old plan, which farmers voted to retain, corn must be supported between 75 and 90 per cent of parity. Under the new one, the rate would have ranged between 60 and 90 per cent. Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs.

Although motorists do not violate traffic law by passing an intersection when the yellow caution light is on, Chief Merriman pointed out that "too many drivers speed up just to get through the intersection" before the light changes to red.

Main purpose of caution lights is to clear traffic at intersections Merriman said. "For safety's sake, motorists should stop when they see the green light switch to yellow," he added.

If drivers approaching an intersection from all four directions decided to crash the caution light, a serious accident would probably be the result the chief pointed out.

Chief Warns On Passing Caution Lights

Police Chief Elmer Merriman today warned motorists that the practice of passing through caution lights at city intersections constitutes a serious traffic hazard.

All restaurant employees in Pickaway County must have a chest x-ray examination made each year before they receive their new permits.

This was stressed today in a joint reminder by the city of Circleville and county health departments.

It was pointed out that the food handlers will have a good opportunity to have their examinations made when the Christmas Seal X-Ray Mobile Unit comes to the district this week. Licenses are to be renewed January 1.

Thursday in Williamsport near the school, 9 a. m. until noon.

Later Thursday in the center of Ashville, in front of Foreman's Garage—2 p. m. until 5:30 p. m., and 7 p. m. until 9 p. m.

Business Boom Supports Head For New Tests

Consumer Spending, Merchant Expansion Seen Keys To Future

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (P)—Two chief supporters of the business boom are heading into testing periods.

Consumer spending has been the mainstay of the record prosperity, taking up where government spending left off after the Korean War.

Business expansion has been the extra force which has stretched these good times month after month.

Merchants everywhere are seeing a real test of consumer spending moods today, mid point in the Christmas selling season. They have large stocks bet on this being their biggest holiday of trade. If it isn't, the January clearance sales should be whoppers.

Car makers here for the National Auto Show are watching the mood just as closely. They have bet large sums on it, too. Their test will come early in New York when their dealers' showrooms fill up with the new models, now mostly in short supply.

How the consumers react—first to Christmas shopping and later in answering the auto makers' prayer for another big spurt of buying of the new models—may give a tipoff whether the business boom is leveling off or just getting set for a new jump forward.

Business expansion plans are also up for a test. So far there has been no slackening. On the contrary, Washington officials look for the first three months of 1957 to set a new peak in spending for new plants, and even more spending for new equipment.

The Commerce Department and the Securities and Exchange Commission look for business spending to reach a record annual rate of 38 billion dollars in the first quarter, a gain of 8 per cent over the same period of this year. For all of 1956 their estimate is that 35 billion was spent on business expansion.

The test will come in the next few months, however, in businessmen's future plans.

The spending in the next three months is pretty much set by long standing plans. What officials are wondering now is whether this great expansion is now nearing its end—whether announcements of future plans will be as heartening as those of the past — whether some programs may be shelved because of tight money or the international uncertainties.

End To All Farm Surpluses Urged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (P)—The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation urges that the federal government's practice of buying up and storing surplus farm commodities be ended.

Charles B. Shuman asserted: "Farmers are hurt rather than helped by the accumulation of government storage stocks of farm commodities."

The farm leader recommended that current surpluses be disposed of as swiftly as possible "at reduced prices or given away to needy people at home and abroad" and that once the surplus in any particular crop is wiped out, the secretary of agriculture should be barred from replacing it.

JOHN VAN HUDA (visored cap, middle rear) helps police count a hoard of some $50,000 in cash which he keeps scattered about his home in Babylon, L. I., N. Y., in coffee bags, tin cans or just lying about loose. The count came about when he reported a robbery. Two thugs got $12,000, but screams of his sister Jeannette made them flee before they could scoop up any more. Why didn't Van Huda keep the money in a bank? Well, said his sister, he withdrew it in fear Hitler would win the war and take over. (International)

Here's Recipe For $25,000 Prize Dish

NEW YORK (P)—Like to know how to make an old-fashioned dinner dish that is worth $25,000?

Well, Mrs. Hildreth Hatheway of Santa Barbara, Calif., who won that amount here Tuesday, isn't a bit shy about revealing her recipe for meat and dumplings.

It's called "California Casserole" and won top prize at the annual "bakeoff" here.

Following is the recipe:

Coat two pounds of veal or beef roundsteak with mixture of 1-3 cup flour and 1 teaspoon paprika. Pound mixture into steak, cut into two-inch cubes. Brown meat thoroughly in 1/2 cup salad oil or other shortening. Place in a large skillet and add 1 1/2 cups small cooked or canned onions.

Combine one can cream of chicken soup and one can water in skillet used for browning, bring to boil and pour over meat. Bake in moderate oven for about 45 minutes until meat is tender. Top with 15 dumplings, increase oven temperature to 425 degrees and bake for about 25 minutes more until dumplings are brown.

Serve with a sauce made by heating one can cream of chicken soup and one cup of sour cream.

Ringling Circus Sets Road Trip

NEW YORK (P)—Ringling Bros. - Barnum & Bailey Circus is putting its "Greatest Show on Earth" back on the road next season — but with some significant changes.

Most noteworthy will be the disappearance of the huge canvas tent. It'll give way to indoor arenas, ball parks and state fairgrounds, where all the dates will be played.

The news ended speculation that the famed circus unit might vanish from the American scene since the "big show" unexpectedly terminated its run last July 16 in mid-tour at Pittsburgh.

2 Bodies Sought In Muskingum

McCONNELLSVILLE (P)—Malta policemen and firemen were to continue dragging the Muskingum River two miles south of here to look for the bodies of Kenneth Vincent, 3, and Harry Grandstaff, victims of a capsized fishing boat Tuesday.

The boy's father, Floyd Vincent of near Malta, swam to safety, Morgan County Sheriff S. A. McConnell said.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My first wife and I were divorced after several years of unhappy marriage. Our children were reared by relatives, while I supported them.

Some years later I met Nancy, a very sweet woman, younger than I. She was all that a man could want in a wife and I asked her to wait for me, until my financial obligations to my children and my mother were over. To this she readily agreed.

More years passed and finally, when the children no longer required my support, Nancy broached the subject of marriage. I told her I was reluctant to resume the yoke of married responsibility. I said I had been so unhappy the first time, and tied down for so long, and now, having lived my own life my own way for years, was afraid that I might not be satisfied within the confines of marriage—and that I might not prove to be a very good husband. In short, I was afraid of what might happen.

Nancy became impatient and told me either to make up my mind, once and for all, about marriage, or release her from her promise. I didn't want to lose her altogether, so we married and have lived contentedly ever since.

But the problem is that Nancy never shows any interest in me—except in my job, and in being a housewife. She has wage earned all these years, and is a wonderful housekeeper — loving, sweet and good natured. But when asked to go to one of the children's homes for dinners, birthdays, etc., she flatly refuses and insists on my going alone.

I am pretty much of a homebody myself, but when we go out, we go our separate ways—she to her club or church meetings, and I to union meetings, or to visit the children, or down to the corner for a beer.

Is it too late to make her realize that I want her with me?

R. S.

DEAR R. S.: It seems you are getting older and lonelier, hence more aware of Nancy's value to you. Without her, you'd feel completely out of touch with the living, in any meaningful sense. And yet in her company, or as regards her wifely pursuits, you are conscious of a total estrangement—of spirit; or of real selves—between you and her.

In all probability, this type of accommodation (if such we may call it) was more or less forced upon Nancy by your mood and behavior in the first phase of marriage—when you were rebelling silently, and indirectly, at having been finessed (by her ultimatum) into putting your neck in the yoke once more.

At the time of entering marriage, you probably held out on her figuratively, in terms of refusing to make an open book of your thoughts, plans, interests, etc. Your cloudy aim and intent probably was to preserve a degree of independence, and to continue (if possible, in the marriage) "living your own life, in your own way" as you had been doing in the long stalling period.

Is it too late to change the pattern? Well, it's never too late to do better. But the change must begin in your psychology, and must become manifest in your changed actions first, before a corresponding change can be expected of her.

Mere appeals to her to draw closer to you won't work. For help read, "Love and Marriage" (Harpers) by Dr. Alexander Magoun.

His Cold Feet Lead To Surrender

CLEVELAND (P)—A man wanted in California for passing bad checks and nonsupport surrendered here Tuesday after literally getting cold feet.

Mifford Craig, 25, limped into a local hospital seeking treatment for a case of frostbite and asked doctors to call police.

Craig asked police to send him back to Fresno, Calif., where he said "it's always nice and warm." He was transferred to the City Hospital prison ward after being treated for frostbite of the toes.

Police said Craig told them he wished he had given himself up 24 hours earlier.

Federal Aid On Sewage Projects Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Priorities for municipalities eligible for federal grants for construction of sewage treatment facilities were listed Tuesday by the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board.

The board said state water pollution control agencies are to review applications for aid and establish priorities on the basis of "financial as well as water pollution control needs."

Grants may be up to 30 per cent of the cost of a project but may not exceed $250,000. Ohio's allocation is $1,653,000 for this year.

Sewage treatment plants and intercepting sewers may be included in such projects but not lateral and trunk sewers.

The allocation for Ohio will provide federal aid for only a portion of those cities ready to start construction by the deadline of this year's allocation, June 30, 1957.

The board set up this criteria for priorities:

1. All municipalities, whose permits from the board require them to build or expand sewage treatment works, are to be considered equal on the basis of need from the water pollution control viewpoint.
2. For computing financial needs, the board will use two factors equally—average family income of the community and cost per capita of the proposed sewage project.

Red Ambassador To Sweden Quits

STOCKHOLM (P)—Rear Adm. Konstantin Rodionov announced his resignation here Tuesday as Soviet Ambassador to Sweden. The action followed a storm of public protests against his continued stay in this country.

The resentment stemmed largely from the fact that the three biggest Soviet spy cases in Swedish history occurred during his stay in Sweden.

Rodionov said he would take another position in Moscow.

Caution Is Urged On Science Trend

PORTLAND, Ore. (P)—Dr. A. L. Strand, president of Oregon State College, says the heavy emphasis on science and mathematics in education is getting out of hand.

The whole country is so science-minded and there are such powerful forces behind this emphasis there is a danger of overdoing it, he told the Oregon State Board of Higher Education Tuesday.

"This whole philosophy of emphasizing science and mathematics... is out of balance because the deficiency in other teaching fields is equally great," Dr. Strand said.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days
Pamela Cheatham, a student at the School of International Affairs and a member of the editorial board of the Journal of International Affairs, seems to be a very worried young lady. She says:

"Experience will have made it obvious to most that, in general, the American public is woefully ignorant about the details of international politics, not to mention the overall patterns. Where does the fault lie? How much foreign news do American papers print? Do they give an accurate and balanced picture? How much of what is printed is read and absorbed? . . ."

During the past month, surely, our newspapers have been flooded with foreign news and taken by and large, the American reader has absorbed most of it and has reached the rational conclusion that it is mostly bad. The assumption that only those who go to some college read and absorb is a characteristic of the intellectual snobism which pervades such institutions and is probably a self-satisfying elitism that substitutes for inadequate pay and numerous frustrations.

Most Americans know as much about foreign affairs as they need to; they know that they bring higher taxes, keep the national debt high and keep us in danger of war. If this sounds to the learned as an over-simplification, it will not sound so to the citizens who at the end of the year are calculating their income taxes and wondering where the money has gone to. Also, citizens passed through this past month of fear and wonder as to whether their sons, and even husbands, would be called up over Egypt as they were over Korea.

Miss Cheatham says further: "Directly involved is the uniquely democratic dilemma of responsible government, the prerequisite for which has always been thought to be an intelligent and well informed populace. . ."

How well informed any people is depends not so much upon what they read but upon what they are permitted to read. The curse of censorship is upon the Earth. Governments have learned many techniques of censorship which give the appearance of not being censorship, of even being a frank and dull statement.

We do not, for instance, in this country know to this day, whether the American embassies in London and Paris notified the State Department about the plans of the British and French to move on Suez and whether the despatches were lost in transmission, as cables were lost prior to Pearl Harbor.

We do not know whether the CIA provided full information from London, Paris, Cairo and Tel Aviv which should have put the Administration on the qui vive or if such reports arrived, whether they were killed by evaluators as ridiculous or lost in the shuffle between CIA and State and the White House.

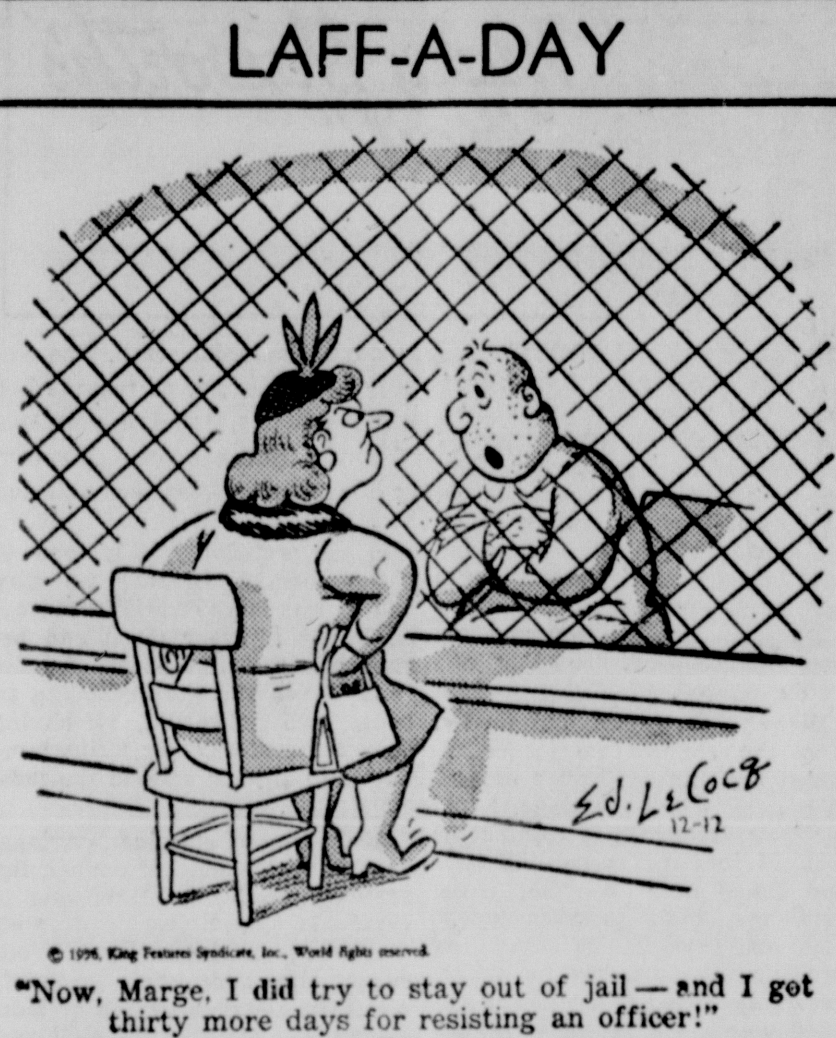

We do not know why President Eisenhower was so piqued over Sir Anthony Eden's failure to notify him in advance of an action when President Truman went into Korea first and consulted the U.N. afterwards.

If Truman could use this device, why not Eden? Or would Eisenhower say that ours is not a continuous government and that one President's conduct does not bind another? If that is so, why did we drive the Communist government out of Guatemala without consulting anyone? Surely if our sphere of free activity is Latin America, the British could plead that the Middle East is theirs.

Electroshock Therapy And How It Is Applied

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
EVERYONE will develop an epileptic-type convulsion upon being given electroshock treatment. How quickly such a convulsion develops or how much current is needed depends on the individual patient.
Convulsion Helps
It is the convulsion which helps the mentally ill patient. The electricity serves only to produce it and to render the patient unconscious and thus free from pain.
The electroshock apparatus consists chiefly of voltage- and time-controlling devices utilizing a 60-cycle alternating current.
Electrodes are applied to the head by means of a rubber band or are pressed against the temples by forceps. Tight clothes are loosened, hairpins and other metal objects are removed.
While some physicians treat the patient on his side or in an upright position, most prefer that he be on his back with his body fully extended on a firm-surfaced, insulated bed. A rubber mouth gag is usually used to prevent biting the tongue.
100 to 200 Volts
The current (ranging from 100 to 200 volts) is then applied for one-fifth to one-half second.
The actual amount of current passing through the body is roughly about enough to light an ordinary 100-watt bulb.
As soon as the current is applied, the patient loses consciousness.
What Happens
A rapid flexing of the extremities signals the start of the convulsion. This is followed by a rigid extension of the body. This lasts for about 10 seconds, after which there are jerking contractions of the extremities and a jerking of the head. After about 30 seconds, the convulsion is over. Generally, the patient will remain unconscious for from 10 to 30 minutes. Invariably he returns to consciousness disoriented and confused. Often a patient will not know who or where he is. His memory usually returns in about an hour.
The course and number of treatments, naturally, vary with the response and condition of the patient. For an average depressed patient, six to ten electroshock-produced convulsions usually are enough. In schizophrenia, 20 treatments seem to be needed. Ordinarily, two or three treatments can be given in one week. In case of a relapse, additional treatments might be needed.

THE passing feet never slackened their pace. Casson gave Perry three minutes to get out of sight, then took the van back to its garage and returned to Mount Street.

He changed back into his Bickersteth Street suit and wrote a note. This he gave to Mrs. Baker together with the canister of film. He told her to deliver it to the studio first thing next morning. He wanted it developed like the earlier films, and each print numbered with the date and number of its parent canister, and he wanted the whole lot by tea-time the same day. It was a rush job, urgent.

In Bickersteth Street, Casson had supper and sat down to write. He sat up till three in the morning, writing the history of the case in detail. The result pleased him.

He did not wait for Perry the next morning but left the house after breakfast and went to Mount Street, taking the history with him. He changed into yet another suit, took a raincoat and umbrella, and drove to Knightsbridge. He parked well away from Montpelier Square.

His purpose was to keep walking, passing the southern end of the Square at twenty-minute intervals in order to keep a regular check on Perry's presence. Perry was there, settled down to his sketching; and he remained in that position throughout the morning.

Casson knocked off at lunch-time for half-an-hour, then resumed his patrol. Each time he passed, Perry was sheltering under a thorn tree, reading a newspaper.

Casson realized that he was wasting his time. Perry would not move in for the kill that day. Disgruntled, he went home to his flat.

He had a bath, changed back into his old suit and went into the library to examine the finished photographs. Three of the pictures were no good. But two were excellent.

One was of Perry dressed as Perry, the other of Perry dressed as Bagot. In both the little man was standing outside the front door of his house and, because it was a corner house, the name of the street was low on the edge of the picture.

Casson called Mrs. Baker into the room. "You remember the man we watched in Montpelier Square?" She nodded. "Do you recognize him here?" She looked at the photographs, discarded that of Perry in his ordinary clothes, hesitated over Perry dressed as Bagot.

"I think this is him, Mr. Casson, but I couldn't quite swear to it in a Court of Law, sir."

"Thank you, Mrs. Baker."

When she had left the room he picked up a pencil from his desk and bent over the photograph of Perry dressed as Bagot. He worked carefully, intently, for a quarter of an hour. Then he called her back. He gestured to the photograph which he had propped against a vase.

"Try this one, Mrs. Baker. Not too near."

She took one look.

"That's him, sir." Her voice was contented. She liked to see her Mr. Casson happy. He was happy. All he had done was faintly to pencil in heavier spectacles than the gold rimmed ones which Perry had worn when he had emerged from his house and been photographed.

Casson scribbled a name and telephone number on a pad and threw it across to Mrs. Baker.

"Ring this, would you, and tell Nevill to wait till I get there. I'll be ten minutes." He was out of the door, leaving it swinging behind him, and down the stairs three at a time, admiring the slowness of the lift. He almost ran up Carlos Place past the Connaught Hotel, along Adams Row, across Davies Street, and down Grosvenor Hill. He pushed open the door of the photographic studio and went straight through the waiting-room into the inner office.

"Nevill, I want you to do me an urgent job," he said. The pale young man pushed back his chair.

"Not again," he said. "I did one for you this morning. It's too much. Really, it is."

"Never mind," said Casson. "You're the only man in town who can do it." To some extent it was true. Nevill was a brilliant photographer. At Casson's words his expression softened.

"Very well," he said. "What is it?"

Casson pushed the photograph over to him.

"Fake this," he said. "Re-touch it and re-take it so that the spectacles look real."

Nevill regarded it distastefully. "When do you want it?"

Best Yule Buy: Diamonds

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Diamonds are a better buy this year than Santa Claus will probably find them for many a Christmas to come.

Most of women's other necessities for a rich full life — coffee, brassieres, motor cars, and toenail polish — are higher than they were 10 years ago. Diamonds are cheaper.

A ¼ carat diamond that sold for $110 to $225 in 1946, during the postwar marriage surge, sells for $90 to $220 today. A one-carat diamond that ranged from $665 to $1,275 in 1946 can be had now for $545 to $1,175.

But not for long, an industry spokesman warns.

"This will be the last year for a long time in which diamond prices will be lower than they were in the top price year of 1946," said Albert Haase, president of the Jewelry Industry Council.

"The number of marriages is increasing again, and should continue rising until about 1975. And the demand is getting bigger in other ways. More diamonds are being used in wedding rings. Men, too, are again wearing more diamonds — in cufflinks, lodge rings and fraternal pins."

As a matter of fact diamonds were regarded as a man's best friend until about 500 years ago.

The king of gems was reserved for the adornment of the male sex. Women were nothing but chattels, and to give them diamonds would have seemed as outlandish as to put a gold ring in a pig's nose.

The gal who changed this sensible way of life was named Agnes Sorel, a brassy damsel in the court of King Charles VII, who ruled France from 1422 to 1461.

She borrowed all the diamonds owned by her relatives, took them to a jeweler and had him secretly make them into a necklace.

Then she put them around her throat over a low-necked dress, and waited until court. The courtiers stood ready to run their swords through this brazen jade who dared to wear diamonds. But first they looked at the king to see how he took it.

The simple-minded monarch stared, then, dazzled, smiled and beckoned Agnes to him. Aggie had won, and lived happily ever after, dipping her bread in the king's own gravy.

"From that date on," said Haase, "diamonds became a girl's best friend. Now 85 per cent of diamond jewelry is bought by men, but we all know who wears most of it."

Some other things you may not know about diamonds:

Seventy-five per cent of the world's gem diamonds are sold in Uncle Sugarland.

The average price for a diamond engagement ring is $211, the average size is 30 points (a carat has 100 points).

Try, Stop Me

A department store toy section manager, bracing himself for the holiday rush, saw a determined boy dragging a large odd-shaped sack across the floor. Another kid was kicking it along from behind.

The manager stopped the boys and said, "If you keep on doing that Santa Claus is going to skip you."

The kid who was kicking the bag answered, "Who do you think we've got here in this sack?"

The press raised such a fuss when the university abolished the honor system during examinations that its board of trustees felt called upon to explain: "We realize to our regret that the professors had the honor and the students had the system."

Bob Sylvester met an author who was making his first visit to the Big Stem in ten years. "Note any significant changes?" asked Bob.

"Yes," said the author. "The cabs are smaller and the tabs are bigger."

Immediately following the close of the meeting, the newly installed officers formed a reception line, and were greeted by the members.

Refreshments were served from a table, centered with a bouquet of red and white roses, adorned on either side by a large gold star. At each point of the star was a lighted taper in a color representative of that particular point. Mrs. Elzie Radcliffe presided at the coffee service and Mrs. James Groce at the punch bowl.

As the next regular meeting would fall on Christmas night, the chapter will not meet at that time.

However, members are urged by the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron to attend church services in a body Sunday, December 23 at 10:45 a. m. at First Methodist Church so that they might worship together and be a little more closely associated with one another at this Christmas season.

The next regular meeting will be in the temple, January 8.

Holiday Season Holds Good Times, Parties Galore

Do not look now, but you are in the midst of a holiday month! There will be good times ahead for everyone. It is a glamour season of parties galore.

If you are going to have fun, here are two rules to keep in mind:

Do not overdo it. Parties are fun, but you can not dash off to one every night of the week and keep glamorous.

No ma'am! Lack of sleep will give you dark circles under the eyes and gray your sparkling complexion. Dash about, but be sure you get your beauty sleep.

Do not eat all the holiday fare that will be served your way. Fruit cakes, candies and all kinds of goodies go along with the merry season. Better pass some of the treats up or your Christmas stocking will not be the only thing that's bulging.

To look your prettiest for this party time, here are a few more suggestions:

Use the glamour cosmetics—eyebrow pencil, eye shadow, glitter hair spray that streaks locks silver and gold.

Do not forget fragrance. It is the finishing touch every gala occasion outfit needs.

Be sure to have attractive make-up accessories—a shiny compact, glittering lipstick case, a small but elegant little bag to hold them in.

Be a bit daring about dress. Get out your fancy costume jewelry. Now is the time to dazzle the crowd.

Nostalgic Scenes Inspire Christmas Card Artists

Everybody's heart is home for Christmas. It is no wonder that so many artists are inspired by that theme when it is time for holiday greeting cards.

Snow scenes, long-time favorites, show snug little homes gay with glowing trees and candles. Lighted streets run through towns blanketed in white to give the familiar look of what we have come to call "a real old-fashioned Christmas."

Home and Christmas mean a flickering fire for one greeting card artist. Next to the fireplace he sees a stack of Christmas presents, prettily wrapped, tantalizingly waiting for Christmas morning, as featured in the above drawing.

Santa Claus cards are high on the popularity list. The jolly old elf is shown with traditional sleigh and reindeer and is seen in modern settings as well.

Candles and Christmas flowers add to the variety of greeting designs. And it goes without saying that the artists have not overlooked the Christmas tree.

Some of the most effective religious cards concern the Nativity. Others show churches in snowy settings. Church bells, choir boys, cherubs and angels have inspired artists to a variety of designs.

Whatever your choice, you will find a greeting that reflects any mood—gay, thoughtful, nostalgic, or whatever—that you want to convey. And, the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers, urges you to find it early. Make it a Merry Christmas for mailmen, too.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul M. Butler, Democratic national chairman, misinterpreted that thing called power. He stuck his neck out, and Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn chopped it off.

Butler asked 20 Democrats, including 11 members of Congress, to serve as advisers who would coordinate efforts in behalf of Democratic programs and principles.

Butler heads this 20-man committee, supposedly a guiding force for the party which in effect was left leaderless when Adlai E. Stevenson lost the election. There will be no single party leader until the Democrats pick their presidential candidate in 1960.

The day-by-day practicing leadership of the party rests with the Democrats in Congress. They are the ones who will have to establish whatever record the party offers the voters in the congressional elections of 1958 and then in 1960.

Rayburn and a fellow Texan, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic floor leader, are thus the party's guiding force and the two most powerful Democrats in the capital.

It was the idea of Butler and the Democratic Executive Committee that the 20-member advisory group could help shape a program on which the party could stand in the next two elections.

This meant Rayburn, Johnson and the other members of Congress would be sharing their power with the advisory committee when they didn't really have to.

Butler and the executive committee may have felt that by having Rayburn, Johnson and other congressional Democrats sitting in with the advisory committee they might be spurred to more liberal programs than they have pushed in the past.

But the way Butler went about issuing his invitations to the 20 advisers left him open to embarrassment. And he got it.

If he had asked each of the 20 individually and quietly whether he would serve, anyone declining could have done so with no one besides Butler being any the wiser.

Instead, he announced the 20 names publicly first. Rayburn and three other Democratic House leaders told Butler they would be glad to consult with the committee.

But Rayburn made no promises to follow the committee's ideas. Johnson hasn't been heard from yet but he probably will decline too.

The only members of Congress who have accepted so far are Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Stevenson's running mate this year, and Rep. Edith Green of Oregon.

Butler also invited four Democratic governors and one Democratic mayor. Only Gov. Averell Harriman of New York so far has accepted. Former President Truman and Stevenson were invited and accepted.

U.S. Officer Loses Home In London

LONDON (AP) — The ouster of a U. S. Air Force major from his furnished home aroused a mixture of views today on the present state of relations between Britons and the 80,000 Americans living in this country.

Maj. Eugene Sabatini, an assistant air attaché, was dispossessed two weeks ago by a landlord who denounced U. S. policy in the Middle East. News of it came out Monday.

American diplomatic and military sources expressed amazement. They said the Sabatini ouster appeared to be the first of its kind. They were unanimous in describing their personal day-to-day contacts with Britons as very friendly, despite differences between the British and American governments.

Sabatini's ouster came prior to Britain's decision to withdraw her invading troops from Egypt and before the United States moved to help meet the oil shortage caused in this country by blockage of the Suez Canal.

Sabatini, 37, of Bristol, Pa., made no formal protest when told to move.

The dispossession was ordered by M. C. Holt, a former British army officer who is now partner in a real estate firm representing the owner of the house, who is overseas. Holt wrote Sabatini:

"In view of the despicable conduct of the United States and the profound contempt that I, in common with many millions of my fellow countrymen, feel for that country and its nationals, I am not prepared to allow an American to occupy any property over which I have control."

Turnpike Panel Plans To Sell Old Building

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Ohio Turnpike Commission has authorized start of negotiations with the state highway department for sale of its former quarters here for between $275,000 and $280,000.

State Highway Director S. O. Linzell offered to purchase the four-story structure for the department after Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy reported that no formal bids had been received after advertisements had been placed.

Linzell said he had been authorized to make an offer by the state department of public works, subject to release of funds by the state controlling board.

The building has been vacant since last July 1 when the commission moved to its new quarters in Berea.

Shocknessy said the commission had an investment of about $360,000 in the building, and that at the time it was remodeled for commission use, the commission thought it would remain there for 10-20 years.

Shocknessy also disclosed he would not resign his post with the change of administration in state government. He suggested that other members of the commission remain on the job.

Uncensored Report On Red China

Chinese Follow Red Russian Patterns, But Not Blindly

Editor's note—This is another in a series of stories on life in Communist China as observed by Canadian reporter David Lancashire during a 5,500-mile tour.

By DAVID LANCASHIRE
PEIPING (AP) — The influence of Soviet Russia is evident in every aspect of Red China's development.

This is seen everywhere—from the posters on the walls to trademarks on machinery.

But while there are plenty of Russians in China, they do not mingle socially with the ordinary Chinese.

China has leaned heavily on the Soviet Union in her expansion program.

"We have followed Russia and patterned ourselves after her, but we have not followed her blindly," said a Foreign Office official.

"We have adapted and molded the Soviet system to meet our own needs; but we have also made note of her mistakes and tried to avoid them."

China's first motor vehicles, the big four-ton trucks from the assembly lines at Changchun in the Northeast, were designed in the Soviet Union and put together with Russian machinery.

The still-secret jet planes from the Russian-built and closely guarded factory at Wuchang on the Yangtze are being produced under Soviet supervision. They're close copies of Russian aircraft. Almost every factory manager in the Northeast prefaces his explanations with the approved phrase: "Thanks to the selfless generosity of the Soviet Union..."

But as a slight illustration of the Chinese determination to follow their own path, the qualifying words are added: "And under the Mao and the Communist party..."

The hotels, or "guest houses," in all the industrial centers are packed with Russian engineers and technologists. They are supervising factory construction or installation of machinery, or instructing Chinese workers.

Peiping maintains an advisory board of Russian technology experts as trouble-shooters and inspectors for the Northeastern factories.

In south central China, where the first bridge across the Yangtze River is being built at Wuhan, 20 top Soviet engineers are supervising the project, which was designed in Russia. A third of the steel for the 25-million-dollar bridge is being imported from Russia.

UAW Plans Drive For '58 Pay Hike

CHICAGO (AP) — Walter Reuther has set "the biggest wage increase in the history of our union" as the United Auto Workers' target in 1958.

The UAW president didn't describe the goal in dollars and cents, but spoke Tuesday night in general terms of drafting "the most ambitious" program ever drawn by the 1,500,000 member union.

Reuther addressed the fifth annual UAW Skilled Trades Conference.

Another UAW spokesman said the wage increase demands will be aimed at the aircraft and farm equipment industries as well as the automobile industry.

Boys' 'Shakedown' Ring Is Captured

CLEVELAND (AP) — A shakedown ring of four boys, headed by a 14-year-old who fancied himself as an Adolph Hitler and forced his victims to lick his boots, were sentenced Tuesday to the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster.

The four, who operated a protection racket at Euclid Central High School, were trapped when school officials gave a marked 50-cent piece to a boy they had threatened.

Dayton Trial Nearing Jury

Cincy Music College Chief Quits In Fuss

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fred Smith resigned Tuesday as administrator of the College-Conservatory of Music under pressure of students and faculty.

President Walter Schmidt said he accepted the resignation — effective Dec. 20 — on behalf of school trustees "with the most sincere regret."

A meeting of 500 students and 40 faculty members Monday had unanimously demanded Smith resign because of his administrative policies.

Smith said in a letter to President Schmidt that he thought it best for the school and the city that he resign his post.

At Monday's meeting, students charged that Smith had coerced and intimidated both students and faculty to gain "complete control and dominance."

Smith said in a statement: "I think it would be superfluous to enter into any discussion or controversy at this time."

"It seems to me that all that I have done for the College of Music and the College-Conservatory of Music during the past 15 years should speak for itself."

Record-Setting Backs Named To North '11'

Len Dawson To Start In Senior Bowl Game Slated For Jan. 5

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Record-cracking backs Lenny Dawson and Jim Crawford head a speedy 25-man North squad named today for the Jan. 5 Senior Bowl Game.

The Bowl's first sellout of 36,000 is expected when the handpicked stars meet a similar South team in Ladd Stadium.

Purdue's Dawson, first player to lead the Big Ten in both passing and total offense for three consecutive seasons, was the Pittsburgh Steelers' No. 1 draft choice. He completed 243 of 452 passes for 3,325 yards during his collegiate career.

Crawford set Skyline Conference records in pacing Wyoming to an undefeated season. He was the top rusher in major colleges this season with 1,104 yards in 200 tries, and scored 96 points.

The Washington Redskins' Joe Kuharich will replace the Detroit Lions' Buddy Parker as Yankee coach. The previously named South team will again be directed by Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns.

Winning team members receive $500 each, the loser $400. The South has a 4-3 edge in the series.

North squad
Ends — Brad Bomba, Indiana; Bob Koenig, Purdue; Steve Junker, Xavier (Ohio); and George Benedict, Springfield (Mass.) College.

Tackles — George Strugar, Washington; Bob Pollock, Pittsburgh; Bill Michael, Ohio State; Walt Mazur, Penn State; and Bill Underdonk, West Virginia.

Guards — Don Gilkey, California; Dick Stapp, Colorado; Vince Scorsone, Pittsburgh; and Ed Voytek, Purdue.

Tackle, Quint Joins List Of Fallen Mighty

CHICAGO (AP)—Things are tough all over in college basketball. First Louisville, then Kentucky were knocked off and now North Carolina State has come a cropper in a topsy-turvy three nights for the suspected "powers."

Louisville was chilled 76-74 by Canisius Saturday. Kentucky was spilled 71-70 by St. Louis Monday. Tuesday night, N. C. State, ranked eighth in the first Associated Press poll of the season, took the rap with a 96-94 overtime defeat by Clemson, an infrequent winner.

The Tigers hadn't beaten State since 1941.

Southern Methodist and Alabama are the only other top 10 members in action, stayed unbeaten with ease.

SMU, rated No. 5, topped Wichita 93-70. 'Bama, No. 9, rapped little Howard (Ala.) 109-88.

Clemson counted 10 points in the last 3 minutes to gain an 86-all deadlock at the end of the regulation time with eight points scored by Vince Yockel, who was the high scorer with 31. Bill Yarbrough said four consecutive free throws to break things open for Clemson in the overtime.

John Maglio scored 28 and Bob Seitz 22 for the Wolfpack, who seldom led while losing for the first time in four starts.

Alabama, now is averaging 106 points a game in rolling up a 4-0 record.

Boxer Condemned; Fights Too Often

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Raul Macias, the NBA bantamweight champ, is on the carpet here for fighting too often.

The Mexican Boxing Commission has ordered Macias to explain why he has violated article No. 13 of the national boxing code — which says fighters must rest 14 days between fights.

Commission members pointed out Macias had two fights within two weeks.

Sportswriters defended Macias' code "violation" by saying both opponents were minor boxers and that he knocked out both in early rounds. Macias didn't really need much rest, they said.

Major Leagues Lend Hand To Minors, Pinch Colleges

CHICAGO (U) — Major league club owners, in a surprisingly brief winter meeting, extended a helping hand to the minor leagues and loosed a swift kick at collegiate baseball.

The owners Tuesday concluded their Chicago conclave a day ahead of schedule by:

1. Setting a 28-player limit per club for opening day which will hustle as many as 64 players to an April minor league start.
2. Rescinding a rule banning the signing of a collegiate player after he has reached his sophomore year. The rule prevailed three years.

The latter action brought a howl of protest from collegiate baseball coaches who depicted it an obvious move to steal talent from campus diamonds.

Commissioner Ford Frick explained that the old rule was unworkable because the minor leagues never agreed to any col-

Redlegs Fail To Get Hurler During Trades

CHICAGO (U)—Cincinnati's Redlegs failed to find a trade here for the front-line pitcher they want, but Manager Birdie Tebbetts says the team may make do with what they have.

Tebbetts, leaving the annual major league meeting for Cincinnati, said, "I can't say I'm not disappointed that we made no deals during the baseball meetings to strengthen our club."

"But neither can I say I'm discouraged about going to spring training with the players I have on our roster right now."

Tebbetts, who guided the Reds to third place in the National League last season, said he thinks Redleg pitching may be better.

He said Brooks Lawrence may not be as "sensational" as last season when he won his first 13 games straight, "but I am confident that he'll win 19 games again and maybe a few more."

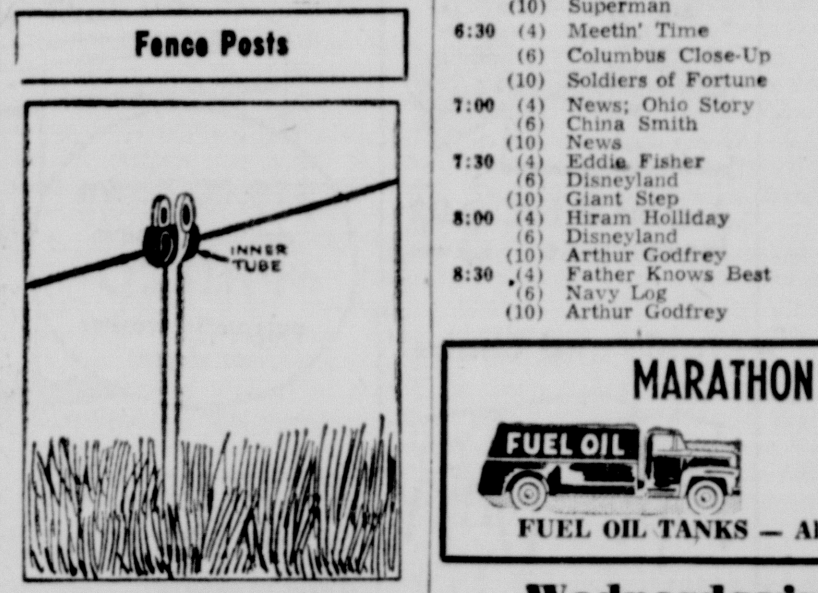

The Redleg pilot said that Joe Nuxhall is expected to have a better season than in 1956.

"But don't forget," Tebbetts said, "Big Joe was plagued by a long series of injuries."

"I also look for Johnny Klippstein, Hal Jeffcoat and Art Fowler to have better seasons. And no one will dispute the fact that my guy Herschel Freeman was the best relief pitcher in the game last season."

He said that improvement is looked for from Tom Acker and Don Gross, and from former Chicago Cub Warren Hacker.

Fence Posts

Old automobile brake rods obtained from junk yards provide easily moved posts for a temporary electric fence. Drive the rods into the ground and string the wire, wrapping it with pieces of innertube at the points where it is inserted into the clevises of the brake rods to insulate it from the metal.

Deer-Hunters Take To Fields

COLUMBUS (U) — For the first time in 56 years deer were being hunted in every county of Ohio today—provided the hunter has a special $5 license and a shotgun loaded with a slug.

The statewide deer-hunting season opened at 9 a. m. and continues through Saturday. Hunting must cease at 5 p. m. each day.

A remarkable comeback of the whitetail deer — the state's deer population now is estimated at 34,500—has made the statewide hunting season possible this year.

Except in Scioto and Adams County, where bucks only may be taken, Ohio hunters are permitted to bag one deer of either sex.

Clem Labine's only World Series start also marked the first time he had pitched 10 innings in the big leagues. He beat the Yankees 1-0 for the Dodgers in the sixth game of the 1956 Series.

2 Million Christmas Cards This Year Will Never Get There

Blame Placed On Addresses, Mailing Faults

Season's Greetings Can Hurt Feelings; Precautions Listed

Although Christmas is the friendliest time of the year, about two million friendships will be strained in the next few weeks. That number of Christmas cards will go astray this year, according to postal authorities' estimates, because of faulty addressing or posting.

And many cards that do reach their marks will weaken friendships instead of strengthening them because they lack good taste or fail to meet standards of simple Christmas card etiquette.

Oversights can cause a card to miss its destination or give an impression of poor taste, according to Jerlyn Madison, writing consultant for one of the nation's largest pen manufacturing companies. She offers the following check list to make sure cards carry Yule greetings effectively and attractively:

DO—be sure your card expresses friendliness. Whether it's an elaborate engraved card, a handwritten note, a photograph of your family or home, or a holiday informal, it should express the warm sentiment of Yuletide.

DO—give your imprinted card a special meaning for relatives and close friends by a handwritten message under the printed name.

DO—sign your complete name when your name is not imprinted or engraved.

DO—send a card to husband and wife even if you know only one—unless it's a semi-business card. Then it can be sent to one or the other, preferably at his or her office.

DO—sign husband-wife cards Mary and Bill Smith or Bill and Mary Smith or the William Smiths or Mr. and Mrs. William Smith. Any of these is correct.

DO—put Dad's name first, followed by Mother's and then the children according to age regardless of sex when the complete family is listed.

DO—sign the card neatly and legibly so the recipient will recognize the sender.

DO—address Christmas card envelopes in handwriting, carefully and legibly.

DO—use postal zone numbers in mailing to large cities.

DO—recheck addresses more than a year old.

DO—use a three-cent stamp. It assures forwarding if the address is changed or a return to the sender if undeliverable.

State Board Defers Move On Standards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state board of education has deferred for at least a month the adoption of a controversial set of standards for elementary schools.

The board decided Tuesday to send the proposed standards back to a committee headed by Wayne Shaffer of Montpelier for further study.

The standards met stout opposition from officials of private schools during a public hearing Monday. The Ohio Education Assn. also had some suggested changes.

Principal objections center on a proposed requirement that all teachers—in public and private schools alike—must have teaching certificates indicating the successful completion of professional education courses.

Some public school officials object to a proposal requiring at least three full-time teachers in every elementary school and a limit of two grades to one classroom.

The board Tuesday also received a cost estimate from Robert L. Rohe, school finance director, on operation of the new school foundation law which became effective Oct. 1.

He said it will cost the state as much as $5 million dollars more in the next two years than was appropriated for the two-year period which ends next June 30. He promised a firm estimate in another month.

DON'T—use washable ink for envelope addressing. It may smear if exposed to rain or dampness.

DON'T—delay buying or ordering Christmas cards. If you haven't got your cards, get them today.

DON'T—wait until the last few days before Christmas before mailing cards. Mail them at least a week before Christmas.

Man, 28, Admits Slaying Brother

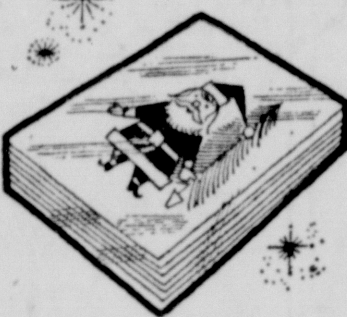

SANDUSKY (AP)—Tree trimmer Peter Robert Miller, 28, of Norwalk, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a reduced charge of manslaughter in the slaying of his brother, Robert, 23, last April.

Miller originally was charged with first degree murder. The court agreed to the reduced charge after hearing a report from Dr. R. E. Bushong, superintendent of Lima State Hospital, who said Miller was subnormal mentally. Judge James L. McCrystal sentenced Miller to 1-20 years in the reformatory.

Cop's Son Indicted

CLEVELAND (AP)—Warren Bayless, 20-year-old son of a Cleveland police lieutenant, was indicted Tuesday on a second degree murder charge in the fatal stabbing of Joseph Walford, 19, of Mentor-on-the-Lake in a fight.

58 'Accident Prone' Spots Listed By Highway Agency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Highway Safety Department issued a report Tuesday which might have been entitled: "Some road intersections to bypass."

The report concerned "accident-prone" locations in Ohio.

Fifty-eight intersections are listed as places where a number of accidents have occurred during the first nine months of this year.

The No. 1 rural highway "trouble spot" was listed as the junction of Georgesville road and U.S. 40 at the western limits of Columbus. Previous reports by the department show that the intersection had 14 accidents with seven injuries in 1954 to rank seventh in the state, and 27 accidents with 34 injuries in 1955 to rank second. In the first nine months of 1956, the number of accidents at this location are within five of equalling the total number of accidents for all 12 months of 1955.

There is a traffic light at the intersection, but the junction is in a traffic-congested area, especially at peak traffic times, because of industrial plants in the area.

Armco Boosting Some Steel Prices

MIDDLETOWN (AP)—Price increases on some sheet steel products were announced Tuesday by Armco Steel Corp.

The increases are on "extras" based on quality, size and treatment of the steel. Cost of the steel is figured on a base price plus the extras ordered.

Armco said the increases, that will hike costs over-all nearly 3 per cent, go on these varieties of sheet steel: Hot-rolled, cold-rolled, paintgrip, carbon coated, drawing quality and pickled.

Tougher Auto Driver Program Urged By Group

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Automobile Assn. plans to back a "positive" legislative program aimed at removing the "accident-prone driver" from the highways.

J. Russell Lloyd, association secretary, said the group's board of trustees, backed by some half million members, had approved a report of its highway and legislative committees calling for support of such a program.

He said the big stake of Ohio motorists in the coming session of the Legislature is indicted by committee reports that more than a score of proposals likely to affect car owners and operators can be expected.

He said the association will support further strengthening of the financial responsibility law, that it "favors protecting the good driver by taking dangerous drivers
